Website pricing guide

A website that fits your business.

Every business needs something different. This guide explains the types of projects I take on, what each starting price includes, and how ongoing costs work.

01

Business Website

Starting at $1,500

Good fit for: Hairstylists, consultants, local service providers, independent professionals, and small businesses that need a polished online presence.

Includes

- ✓ Up to five core pages
- ✓ Layouts that work well on phones
- ✓ Basic page titles and search descriptions
- ✓ Two consolidated revision rounds within the agreed scope
- ✓ A handoff walkthrough
- ✓ Design tailored to your business
- ✓ One inquiry form and links to your social profiles
- ✓ Entry of the text and images you provide, with light editing
- ✓ Connecting your domain

A simple link to a booking page you already use can be included.

Full copywriting, branding, photography, extra pages, large content moves, and new functionality are quoted separately.

Example: A photographer needs visitors to learn about packages, view a portfolio, and send an inquiry. No customer logins or custom database.

02

Booking & Payments

Starting at $2,500

Good fit for: Businesses that want visitors to schedule appointments and pay online.

Everything in Business Website, plus

- ✓ Setup and connection of one agreed booking service
- ✓ The standard confirmations your chosen services support
- ✓ One agreed payment flow, such as an appointment deposit
- ✓ Testing of the full booking and payment journey

I use existing booking and payment services where they fit. Fully custom scheduling, complex pricing rules, multiple workflows, and extra integrations are quoted separately.

Provider subscriptions and transaction fees are separate.

Example: A makeup artist wants customers to reserve a time slot, pay a deposit, and receive a booking confirmation.

When a website becomes a platform.

03

Custom Website or Application

Projects starting at $5,000

Good fit for: Academies, membership businesses, organizations, and teams that need people to log in and use interactive tools.

Possible features

- ✔ Accounts and logins
- ✔ Databases for your records
- ✔ Lessons and course content
- ✔ Automated emails and workflows
- ✔ Permissions for different kinds of users
- ✔ Payments, subscriptions, or online sales
- ✔ Reporting and dashboards

Not every feature is included at the starting price. We choose what your project needs together.

Every custom project starts with discovery and a written scope. Larger projects may use milestone payments.

Example: An academy wants parents and students to sign in, access lessons, follow progress, get announcements, and make payments, with tools for the administrator to manage it all.

What affects the final quote?

Number of pages	A five page website is generally simpler than a site with dozens of unique screens.
Accounts and permissions	Sign in, password resets, and separate admin and customer roles need extra development and testing.
Custom workflows	Scheduling logic, progress tracking, reporting, and automation add complexity.
Integrations	Payment providers, email platforms, AI tools, and existing business software may need setup or custom connections.
Content and design	Custom visual design, copywriting, branding, content moves, and large amounts of content can add scope.

Good to know

Starting prices cover the baseline scope listed for each project type. Your final price depends on your requirements and is confirmed in a written proposal before any work begins.

Three costs, kept separate.

1 Project fee
Design, development, testing, and launch of your site.

2 Provider costs
Your domain, hosting, booking tools, email delivery, and any other services the project needs.

3 Optional care fee
Agreed checks, a monthly report, and plan time for website work, if you choose a care plan.

Wherever practical, provider accounts are set up in your name and billed to you directly, so you stay in control. Which services your project needs, and what they charge, is reviewed together for each project.

Common provider costs

Domain name	Your web address. Usually renewed every year; the amount depends on the domain and registrar.
Hosting	The service that keeps your website online. The plan and its cost depend on what your site needs.
Database and storage	For sites that store accounts, content, uploads, or other data. Charges depend on usage.
Email delivery	For confirmations, reminders, and notifications. Pricing depends on how many emails the site sends.
Payment processing	A fee is usually taken from each online payment. The rate depends on your provider and payment method.

Two quick examples

A small informational website
May only need a domain renewal and hosting. It may not need a database, user accounts, or email automation.

A student portal
May need hosting, a database, email delivery, and payment processing, with usage charges that grow as it grows.

Provider costs are separate from the project fee and from any care plan. There's no one size monthly figure, because the services and charges depend on what your site uses.

Launch day isn't goodbye.

Care plans are optional. Every plan includes monthly website checks and a monthly health report. Included time is flexible and counted in standard minutes, including testing.

Essential Care

$59 / month

- Scheduled monthly checks of agreed pages, contact forms, and booking links, where applicable
- A brief monthly health report, reviewed by me
- Work on your site is quoted separately and starts only after you approve

Business Care

$129 / month

- Everything in Essential Care
- 30 minutes each billing period for any website work: updates, fixes, new pages, or features

Premium Care

$249 / month

- Everything in Essential Care
- 90 minutes each billing period for any website work: updates, fixes, new pages, or features

What included time can go toward

- Updating hours, contact details, prices, text, or links
- Replacing photos or documents you send
- Fixing something that stopped working
- Adding a new page or a new feature
- Part of a larger project, with an estimate for the rest

How included time works

- Your included time is flexible. Use it toward updates, fixes, new pages, or new features. For larger requests, I'll explain how your available time applies and quote any additional work before we begin.
- Work is counted in standard minutes from an agreed schedule of common tasks, including testing, not with a stopwatch.
- Monthly checks, your report, and defects covered by the 30 day launch guarantee don't use plan time.
- Included time renews each billing period and doesn't roll over.
- Any additional cost needs your approval before that work starts. Nothing is charged automatically.
- Hosting, domains, subscriptions, licenses, and other provider costs are separate.
- There's no round the clock emergency service or guaranteed fix deadline.
- Care plans are optional.

Occasional support, no plan required

- You can ask for help without a monthly care plan.
- Occasional work is $100 an hour with a one hour minimum, or a fixed quote for a defined project.
- We agree on an estimate before any work begins.
- If you're on a care plan, anything beyond your included time needs your approval before extra charges apply.
- For websites I didn't build, I start with an initial review before agreeing to ongoing support. The review is scoped and quoted like any other work.

From idea to launch.

1	Discovery and proposal	We talk through goals, features, timeline, and budget. You get a written scope and quote.
2	Deposit and development	For standard website projects, 50% is due upfront to reserve your spot and begin work. The remaining 50% is due at delivery, before public launch or final handoff. Larger custom projects use payment milestones defined in the proposal.
3	Review and launch	You get two consolidated revision rounds within the agreed scope. A round is one collected list of feedback, so gather everything you'd like changed and send it together. New features or changes to the agreed scope get their own estimate before any work on them begins.
4	The first 30 days	If you find a defect in the work I delivered, measured against the agreed scope, report it within 30 days of launch and I'll fix it without using any paid care time. New requests, your own changes, and changes made by outside services are handled separately.
5	Ongoing support	Choose an optional care plan, or ask for help as needed at $100 an hour with a one hour minimum, or a fixed quote.

Common questions

Do I have to buy a care plan?	No. Care plans are optional. Your domain, hosting, and other provider charges still apply either way.
Can I request changes later?	Yes. Changes are estimated first and billed as occasional support or a fixed project quote, once you approve the estimate.
Can you give me an exact quote?	Yes, after we talk through your requirements. A written proposal confirms what is included and what is not.
Can you look after a site you didn't build?	Possibly. I start with an initial review before agreeing to ongoing support. The review is scoped and quoted like any other work.

Let's build something useful.
